The seriousness of the crimes, along with the following sentencing objectives and circumstances in aggravation, should be of primary concern to this court.

The Judicial Council Rules provide the following objectives to be achieved in sentencing:

Rule 4.410(a). Protecting society. Here, even though the jurors found that passion or provocation was a mitigating factor in this case and thus convicted the Defendant of attempted voluntary manslaughter instead of attempted murder, in finding the Defendant guilty they affirmed that the Defendant formed the intent to kill Joseph Camacho. The Defendant is a danger to society as demonstrated not only by the facts of this case, but also his long history of violence with Rose Roach and his prior convictions for violent crimes.

Rule 4.410(b). Punishing the defendant. The Defendant fails to take accountability for his actions. He has told multiple different stores in an attempt to mitigate his conduct. He continues to place blame on the victims in this case and make excuses. He needs to understand the seriousness of his conduct and be punished accordingly.

Rule 4.410(c). Encouraging the defendant to lead a law abiding life in the future and deterring him from future offenses. The Defendant continues to refuse to take responsibility and needs encouragement in order to remain law abiding. The Court should demonstrate to this Defendant that his criminal activity is totally unacceptable to society and that he will be held accountable.

Rule 4.410(d). Deterring others from criminal conduct by demonstrating its consequences.

Rule 4.410(e). Preventing the defendant from committing new crimes by isolating him for a period of incarceration. The imposition of a prison sentence will insure that the Defendant will not victimize others for at least the period of incarceration. It will isolate the Defendant and protect the victims in this case and society.

Rule 4.410(f). Securing restitution for the victim of the crimes. Both Joseph Camacho's and Terry Rahn suffered not only physically but financially as a result of the Defendant's deliberate conduct. Mr. Camacho will never truly be compensated for the damage that has been done.

Rule 4.410(g). Achieving uniformity in sentencing.

Rule 4.410 (b). Because in some instances these objectives may suggest inconsistent dispositions, the sentencing judge must consider which objectives are of primary importance in the particular case. The sentencing judge should be guided statutory statements of policy, the criteria in these rules, and the facts and circumstances of the case.

II.

THE DEFENDANT IS INELIGIBLE FOR PROBATION

Except in unusual cases where the interests of justice would be served, the defendant is ineligible for probation under several subdivisions of Penal Code section 1203.

Section 1203(e)(2). The Defendant personally used a deadly weapon against a human being in connection with the perpetration of this crime.

Section 1203(e)(3). The Defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on the victims during the perpetration of this crime.

Section 1203(e)(4). The Defendant has more than two prior felony convictions.

Moreover, the Defendant is also absolutely ineligible for probation under Penal Code Section 667, et seq., because he has a prior serious felony conviction which the Court found true and his current offenses are serious felony convictions.

III.

THE DEFENDANT SHOULD BE SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR THE UPPER TERM

The facts and circumstances in aggravation outweigh the facts and circumstances in mitigation which are defined by Rules 4.421 and 4.423 of the California Rules of Court. The Defendant should be sentenced to the upper term. The applicable rule sections are discussed below.

A. Circumstances in Aggravation

Rule 4.421(a). Facts relating to the crime, whether or not charged or chargeable as enhancements, including the following:

Rule 4.421(a)(1). The crime involved great violence, great bodily harm, threat of great bodily harm, or other acts disclosing a high degree of cruelty, viciousness, or callousness. It goes without saying that the crimes of attempted voluntary manslaughter and assault with a deadly weapon are serious crimes. As the evidence showed, Joseph Camacho was seriously and permanently injured as a result of the Defendant's crime. To this day, he still walks with a cane and will never be the same man again. Terry Rahn was injured as well. The Defendant's continued deflection of blame onto the victims is evidence of his cruelty and callousness.

Rule 4.421 (a) (2). The defendant was armed with or used a weapon at the time of the commission of the crime. The Defendant used his full size van to hit Terry Rahn and to run over Joseph Camacho.

Rule 4.421 (a) (3). The victims were particularly vulnerable. The victims in this case were vulnerable because the Defendant made sure they were in a position of vulnerability before he attacked. He lured them to his house, waited until they were out of their car, and callously ran them down with his van. They were in no position to fight back.

Rule 4.421 (a) (4). The defendant induced others to participate in the commission of the crime or occupied a position of leadership or dominance of other participants in its commission. Here the defendant was the sole planner and participant.

Rule (a) (6). The defendant threatened witnesses, unlawfully prevented or dissuaded witnesses from testifying, suborned perjury or in any other way illegally interfered with the judicial process. The Defendant lied to 911 and to police about how the incident occurred. At trial, the Defendant continued his lies, taking the stand and suborning perjury. So outrageous were the Defendants lies, that his own expert witnesses – his physician and an accident reconstructionist – could not corroborate the Defendant's fabricated theories and excuses for his conduct. Even the Defendant's story to the probation officer is different than what he testified to at trial. At every turn, the Defendant said whatever he could to deny culpability, minimize his actions, and place blame on the victims and elsewhere.

Rule 4.421(a) (8). The manner in which the crime was carried out indicates planning, sophistication, or professionalism. As mentioned above and as the evidence showed, the Defendant set this incident into motion. He knew Mr. Camacho and Mr. Rahn were coming to his house, and he waited for them. He then waited until they got out of their car and were the most vulnerable before he ran them down with his van. The then fled the scene. Even the Defendant's actions after the crime are evidence of his plan and criminal sophistication – he called 911 and fabricated a story and then lied to the police.

Rule 4.421(a) (11). The defendant took advantage of a position of trust or confidence to commit the offense. The victims in this case both testified that they thought the Defendant was a friend. They trusted him, and that is why it was easy for him to take advantage of their trust and lure them into his trap.

Rule (b) Facts relating to the defendant, including the following:

Rule (b) (1). The defendant has engaged in violent conduct which indicates a serious danger to society. This was an extremely violent act. The Defendant chased Joseph Camacho down until he ran him over, then backed over his body again. He then fled the scene, leaving Camacho to die. Although this is certainly the most violent act the Defendant has committed, he has a long history of violence with his ex-girlfriend and others.

Rule (b) (2). The defendant's prior convictions as an adult or sustained petitions in juvenile delinquency proceedings are numerous or of increasing seriousness. The Defendant has six prior felony convictions.

Rule (b) (3). The defendant has served a prior prison term. The Defendant has served multiple prisons terms dating back over twenty years.

Rule (b) (5). The defendant's prior performance on probation or parole was unsatisfactory.

B. Circumstances in Mitigation

There are very few circumstances in mitigation which apply to this case.

Rule 4.423(a) (1). The defendant was a passive participant or played a minor role in the crime. Here, the Defendant was the sole and primary planner and actor.

Rule 4.423 (a) (2). The victim was an initiator of, willing participant in, or aggressor or provoker of the incident. The Defendant claimed that he was provoked by the victims, and the jury obviously found some of this evidence credible because they only convicted of attempted voluntary manslaughter. However, there was no "great" provocation here. The Defendant's conduct and attitude is such that his dangerous, violent behavior is likely to occur again. Besides the Defendant's testimony, which was filled with inconsistencies and lies, there is no evidence that the victims initiated any violence or were aggressors.

Rule 4.423 (a) (3). The crime was committed because of an unusual circumstance, such as great provocation which is unlikely to reoccur. There is no evidence of any highly unusual circumstance or "great" provocation. The Defendant simply claimed he was "scared" (a regular excuse for his criminal conduct) and that his disease somehow makes him more vulnerable. The evidence was clear, however, that the Defendant made his own choices here – he could have done a lot of things including simply driving away, but chose not to.

Rule 4.423 (a) (4). The defendant participated in the crime under circumstances of coercion or duress, or the criminal conduct was partially excusable for some other reason not amounting to a defense. There was no coercion or duress.

Rule 4.423 (a) (5). The defendant, with no apparent predisposition to do so, was induced by others to participate in the crime. There is no evidence of this, and as stated above, the defendant was the sole and primary actor.

Rule 4.423 (a) (6). The defendant exercised caution to avoid harm to persons or damage to property, or the amounts of money or property taken were deliberately small, or no harm was done or threatened against the victim. Here, the Defendant acted rashly and with no caution. He did nothing to prevent either property or personal damage. The injuries the victims were both physical and financial.

Rule 4.423(b). Facts relating to the defendant, including the fact that:

Rule 4.423(b)(1). The defendant has no prior record, or an insignificant record of criminal conduct, considering the recency and frequency of prior crimes. This section does not apply to this Defendant. The Defendant's has been in and out of the criminal justice system and prison for most of his life. He has a history of thefts, drug use, violation of court orders, and violence. His most recent conviction was for a serious and violent felony, criminal threats. The Court heard testimony about his violence towards Rose Roach. The Defendant's criminal conduct is not only continuous, but it is increasing in seriousness.

Rule 4.423 (b) (2). The defendant was suffering from a mental or physical condition that significantly reduced culpability for the crime. The Defendant claims his arthritic condition was in part to blame for his conduct, but his own physician did not support this theory.

Rule 4.423(b) (3). The defendant admitted guilt at an early stage in the criminal process. To date, the Defendant still refuses to take responsibility, admit any blame, or show any remorse. He took the stand and lied, denying his culpability, placing blame on others, minimizing his actions, and merely attempting to garner sympathy for himself. He did the same during his probation interview, and this time his story changed yet again. He can't keep his many lies straight, and his only concern is himself.

Rule 4.423 (b) (4). The defendant is ineligible for probation and but for that ineligibility he would have been granted probation. As stated above, the defendant is presumptively ineligible for probation.

Rule 4.423 (b) (5). The defendant made restitution to the victim. Unfortunately, in this case the Defendant can never make restitution to these victims.

Rule 4.423 (b) (6). The defendant's prior performance on probation or parole was satisfactory. In the past, the Defendant has violated the conditions of both his probation and parole, usually by committing new offenses.

The circumstances in mitigation do not outweigh the circumstances in aggravation. In fact, the circumstances in aggravation far outweigh any mitigating factors. Thus, imposition of the upper term would be justified.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Our incarcerated in pro per plaintiff filed the operative complaint asserting four causes of action based in tort and one cause of action based on misrepresentation (fraud) in connection with his purchase of a used 2001 GMC Savana van back in the 2006-2007 timeframe. He alleges damages in connection with a van versus pedestrian incident (plaintiff was convicted of attempted voluntary manslaughter after the van was used to run over his victims). As discussed below, the instant demurrer should be sustained without leave to amend for three reasons.

First, the entity served, General Motors LLC did not design, manufacture or distribute the subject 2001 GMC Savana van. To the contrary, the correct entity involved was Motors Liquidation Company f/k/a General Motors Corporation. Shay Decl. ¶3-4. Therefore, General Motors LLC is not a proper party to this lawsuit.

Second, as it relates to the 2006-07 misrepresentation claims, since General Motors LLC did not exist until 2009, it could not possibly make any misrepresentations to plaintiff in connection with his purchase of the used van. More importantly, since General Motors LLC is not liable for any pre-July 10, 2009 MLC conduct, it is not a proper party to this lawsuit. Shay Decl. ¶3-4.

Finally, assuming arguendo that plaintiff served the correct manufacturing entity, the claims are otherwise barred by the statute of limitations. Simply put, plaintiff Darrel Dunsmore filed his lawsuit on July 15, 2015 for alleged damages stemming from the December 3, 2007 incident. (See also, Exhibit A--Plaintiff's Complaint) Therefore, these claims are untimely under both California Code of Civil Procedure Sections 335.1 (tort) and 338(d) (fraud).

- 1. Plaintiff was the driver in a van versus pedestrian criminal incident on December 3, 2007. (Exhibit A--Shay Decl. ¶1).
- 2. Plaintiff Darrel Dunsmore filed the instant action on July 15, 2015. (Exhibit B--Shay Decl. ¶2). The operative Complaint list three defendants; namely, Lobel, Viking and General Motors Corporation "GMC" (manufacturer of the subject van).
- 3. General Motors LLC is a corporation formed in 2009 under the laws of Delaware. A true and correct copy of the Delaware Secretary of State's website identifying General Motors LLC is attached hereto as Exhibit "C".
- 4. On July 10, 2009, General Motors LLC acquired certain assets of Motors Liquidation Company f/k/a/ General Motors Corporation following the filing of bankruptcy by General Motors Corporation in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York In acquiring these assets, General Motors LLC did not assume all of the liabilities of General Motors Corporation, but rather, only product liability claims arising out of incidents involving General Motors Corporation vehicles that occurred after the July 10, 2009 closing date. (See Exhibit 1 to the Request for Judicial Notice, In re General Motors Corp., (S.D.N.Y. 2011) 447 B.R. 142, 144.

III. LEGAL ARGUMENT

Under California Code of Civil Procedure Section 430.10(f), it is essential that "a pleading set forth actionable facts relied upon with sufficient precision to inform the defendant of what plaintiff is complaining, and what remedies are being sought." (Signal Hill Aviation Co. v. Stroppe (1979) 96 Cal.App.3d 627, 636.) Hence, pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure, Section 430.50, a defendant may demur to any of plaintiff's individual counts, if a defect appears on the face thereof. Specifically, California Code of Civil Procedure Section 430.10, provides as follows:

"The party against whom a complaint . . . has been filed may object by demurrer . . . on any one or more of the following grounds:

(e) The pleading does not state facts sufficient to constitute the cause of action."

In that regard, it is well settled that a demurrer can be used to challenge defects that appear on the face of the pleading under attack, or from matters outside the pleading that are judicially noticeable. (Blank v. Kirwan (1985) 39 C.3d 311, 318.) In fact, California Code of Civil Procedure Section 430.30(a) specifically authorizes the court to consider, as a ground for demurrer, any matter which the court must or may judicially notice. (Evidence Code Section 451 and 452.) For example, in Performance Plastering v. Richmond American Homes of California, Inc. (2007) 153 Cal.App.4th 659 the court properly took judicial notice of a court transcript regarding a settlement agreement and considered their contents, even though they were outside the four corners of the complaint.

A. PLAINTIFF'S CLAIMS ARE BARRED AS TO GENERAL MOTORS LLC

Since General Motors LLC did not assume liability in connection with "accidents or incidents" occurring before July 10, 2009, it is not a proper party to this action Specifically, in 2009, the New York Bankruptcy Court oversaw and approved the sale of the bankrupt General Motors Corporation's assets and assumed liabilities. In 2011, the Bankruptcy Court interpreted the agreement and issued a Court Order confirming that "New" GM only assumed liability for products liability claims arising after the "Old" GM's Bankruptcy Code Section 363 Sale Agreement closing date (i.e. July 10, 2009).

In the case at bar, the subject crash involving the 2001 GMC Savana van giving rise to the claims asserted by plaintiff occurred on December 3, 2007. Hence, when these parameters are applied to our facts, it is clear that "New" GM cannot be not a proper party to this action because the incident pre-dates the bankruptcy. Since this court has all of the facts (within the complaint or subject to judicial notice) demonstrating this lawsuit is barred against "New" GM; the demurrer should be sustained since it fails to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. See e.g. Carroll v. Puritan Leasing Co. (1978) 77 Cal. App. 3d 481, 485.

B. PLAINTIFF'S TORT CLAIMS ARE BARRED BY THE APPLICABLE STATUTE OF LIMITATION

This Demurrer must be sustained without leave to amend because this action is barred by the statute of limitation. The statute of limitation for personal injuries is 2 years pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure Section 335.1. The crash occurred on December 3, 2007. The Complaint was filed on July 15, 2015. The statute has passed, and plaintiff's tort claims are time barred.

C. PLAINTIFF'S MISREPRESENTATION CLAIM IS BARRED BY THE APPLICABLE STATUTE OF LIMITATION

This Demurrer must be sustained without leave to amend because this action is barred by the statute of limitation. The statute of limitation for actions based on fraud is 3 years pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure Section 338(d). Plaintiff alleges the misrepresentations were made in connection with his purchase of the 2001 GMC Savana van used in 2006-2007. (See Exhibit A--Plaintiff's Complaint handwritten fraud cause of action at FR-1-FR-2.) The Complaint was filed on July 15, 2015. The statute has passed, and plaintiff's claims are time barred.

III. CONCLUSION

There is no reasonable possibility that amendment could cure the defects. See Banis Restaurant Design, Inc. v. Serrano (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 1035, 1044. Where the defects in a pleading are matters of law, it is proper to sustain a demurrer without leave to amend. Estes v. Monroe (2004) 120 Cal.App.4th 1347, 1365. Inasmuch as General Motors LLC is not a proper party to this action, the claims asserted against

General Motors LLC must be dismissed. As such, for the reasons set forth above, it is respectfully requested that this court sustain this demurrer with prejudice as to General Motors LLC. #### Synopsis

Background: Purchaser of assets of bankrupt automobile manufacturer that had filed for Chapter 11 relief moved to enforce terms of sales order to bar products liability claims against it by user of car manufactured by debtor.

[Holding:] The Bankruptcy Court, Robert E. Gerber, J., held that purchaser, in agreeing to assume liability only for products liability claims "aris[ing] directly out of death, personal injury or other injury to Persons or damage to property caused by accidents or incidents first occurring on or after the Closing Date," did not assume liability for death of motorist who was killed due to accident that predated its closing on the purchase of assets, though it was not until after closing date that motorist died.

Motion granted.

Opinion

DECISION ON NEW GM'S MOTION TO ENFORCE SECTION 363 ORDER WITH RESPECT TO PRODUCT LIABILITY CLAIM OF ESTATE OF BEVERLY DEUTSCH

ROBERT E. GERBER, Bankruptcy Judge.

In this contested matter in the chapter 11 case of Motors Liquidation Company (formerly, General Motors Corp., and referred to here as "Old GM") and its affiliates, General Motors LLC ("New GM") seeks a determination from this Court that New GM did not assume the liabilities associated with a tort action in which a car accident took place before the date ("Closing Date") upon which New GM acquired the business of Old GM, but the accident *144 victim died thereafter.

The issue turns on the construction of the documents under which New GM agreed to assume liabilities from Old GM—which provided that New GM would assume liabilities relating to "accidents or incidents"

"first occurring on or after the Closing Date"—and in that connection, whether a liability of this character is or is not one of the types of liabilities that New GM thereby agreed to assume.

Upon consideration of those documents, the Court concludes that the liability in question was not assumed by New GM. However, if a proof of claim was not previously filed against Old GM with respect to the accident in question, the Court will permit one to be filed within 30 days of the entry of the order implementing this Decision, without prejudice to rights to appeal this determination.

The Court's Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in connection with this determination follow.

Findings of Fact

In June 2007, Beverly Deutsch was severely injured in an accident while she was driving a 2006 Cadillac sedan. She survived the car accident, but in August 2009, she died from the injuries that she previously had sustained.<sup>2</sup>

In January 2010, the Estate of Beverly Deutsch, the Heirs of Beverly Deutsch, and Sanford Deutsch (collectively "Deutsch Estate") filed a Third Amended Complaint against New GM (and others) in a state court lawsuit in California (the "Deutsch Estate Action"), claiming damages arising from the accident, the injuries which Beverly sustained, and her wrongful death. The current complaint superseded the original complaint in the Deutsch Estate Action, which was filed in April 2008, before the filing of Old GM's chapter 11 case.

In July 2009, this Court entered its order (the "363 Sale Order") approving the sale of Old GM's assets, under section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code, to the entity now known as New GM. The 363 Sale Order, among other things, approved an agreement that was called an Amended and Restated Master Sale and Purchase Agreement (the "MSPA").

The MSPA detailed which liabilities would be assumed by New GM, and provided that all other liabilities would be retained by Old GM. The MSPA provided, in its § 2.3(a)(ix), that New GM would not assume any claims with respect to product liabilities (as such term was defined in the MSPA, "Product Liability Claims") of the Debtors except those that "arise directly out of death, personal injury or other injury to Persons or damage to property caused by accidents or incidents first occurring on or after the Closing Date [July 10, 2009] ..." Thus, those Product Liability Claims that arose from "accidents or incidents" occurring before July 10, 2009 would not be assumed by New GM, but claims arising from "accidents or incidents" occurring on or after July 10, 2009 would be.

Language in an earlier version of the MSPA differed somewhat from its final language, as approved by the Court. Before its amendment, the MSPA provided *145 for New GM to assume liabilities except those caused by "accidents, incidents, or other distinct and discrete occurrences." 4

The 363 Sale Order provides that "[t]his Court retains exclusive jurisdiction to enforce and implement the terms and provisions of this Order" and the MSPA, including "to protect the Purchaser [New GM] against any of the Retained Liabilities or the assertion of any ... claim ... of any kind or nature whatsoever, against the Purchased Assets." 5

Discussion

[1] The issue here is one of contractual construction. As used in the MSPA, when defining the liabilities that New GM would assume, what do the words "accidents or incidents," that appear before "first occurring on or after the Closing Date," mean? It is undisputed that the accident that caused Beverly Deutsch's death took place in June 2007, more than two years prior to the closing. But her death took place after the closing. New GM argues that Beverly Deutsch's injuries arose from an "accident" and an "incident" that took place in 2007, and that her death did likewise. But the Deutsch Estate argues that while the "accident" took place in 2007, her death was a separate "incident"—and that the latter took place only in August 2009, after the closing of the sale to New GM had taken place.

Ultimately, while the Court respects the skill and fervor with which the point was argued, it cannot agree with the Deutsch Estate. Beverly Deutsch's death in 2009 was the consequence of an event that took place in 2007, which undisputedly, was an accident and which also was an incident, which is a broader word, but fundamentally of a similar type. The resulting death in 2009 was not, however, an "incident[] first occurring on or after the Closing Date," as that term was used in the MSPA.

As usual, the Court starts with textual analysis. The key provision of the MSPA, § 2.3(a)(ix), set forth the extent to which Product Liability Claims were assumed by New GM. Under that provision, New GM assumed:

(ix) all Liabilities to third parties for death, personal injury, or other injury to Persons or damage to property caused by motor vehicles designed for operation on public roadways or by the component parts of such motor vehicles and, in each case, manufactured, sold or delivered by Sellers (collectively, "Product Liabilities"), which arise directly out of death, personal injury or other injury to Persons or damage to property caused by accidents or incidents first occurring on or after the Closing Date and arising from such motor vehicles' operation or performance (for avoidance of doubt, Purchaser shall not assume or become liable to pay, perform or discharge, any Liability arising or contended to arise by reason of exposure to materials utilized in the assembly or fabrication of motor vehicles manufactured by Sellers and delivered prior to the Closing Date, including asbestos, silicates or fluids, regardless of when such alleged exposure occurs). 6

The key words, of course, are "accidents" and "incidents," neither of which are defined anywhere else in the MSPA, and whose interpretation, accordingly, must *146 turn on their common meaning and any understandings expressed by one side to the other in the course of contractual negotiations. Also important are the words "first occurring on or after the Closing Date," which modify the words "accidents" and "incidents," and shed light on the former words' meaning.

The word "accidents," of course, is not ambiguous. "Accidents" has sufficiently clear meaning on its own, and in any event its interpretation is not subject to debate, as both sides agree that Beverly Deutsch's death resulted from an accident that took place in 2007, at a time when, if "accidents" were the only controlling word, liability for the resulting death would not be assumed by New GM. The ambiguity, if any, is instead in the word "incidents," which is a word that by its nature is more inclusive and less precise.

But while "incidents" may be deemed to be somewhat ambiguous, neither side asked for an evidentiary hearing to put forward parol evidence as to its meaning. Though it is undisputed that "incidents" remained in the MSPA after additional words "or other distinct and discrete occurrences," were deleted, neither side was able, or chose, to explain, by evidence, why the latter words were dropped, and what, if any relevance the dropping of the additional words might have as to the meaning of the word "incidents" that remained. The words "or other distinct and discrete occurrences" could have been deleted as redundant, to narrow the universe of claims that were assumed, or for some other reason. Ultimately, the Court is unable to derive sufficient indication of the parties' intent as to the significance, if any, of deleting the extra words.

So the Court is left with the task of deriving the meaning of the remaining words "accidents or incidents" from their ordinary meaning, the words that surround them, canons of construction, and the Court's understanding when it approved the 363 Sale as to how the MSPA would deal with prepetition claims against Old GM. Ultimately these considerations, particularly in the aggregate, point in a single direction—that a death resulting from an earlier "accident [] or incident[]" was not an "incident[] first occurring" after the closing.

Starting first with ordinary meaning, definitions of "incident" from multiple sources are quite similar. They include, as relevant here, 7 "an occurrence of an action or situation felt as a separate unit of experience"; 8 "an occurrence of an action or situation that is a separate unit of experience"; 9. "[a] discrete occurrence or happening"; 10 "something that happens, especially a single event"; 11 "a definite and separate occurrence; an event'; 12 or, as proffered by the Deutsch Estate, "[a] separate *147 and definite occurrence: EVENT." 13 In ways that vary only in immaterial respects. all of the definitions articulate the concept of a separate and identifiable event. And, and of course, from words that follow, "arising from such motor vehicles' operation or performance," the event must be understood to relate to be one that that involves a motor vehicle. Accidents, explosions or fires all fit comfortably within that description. Deaths or other consequences that result from earlier accidents, explosions or fires technically might fit as well, but such a reading is much less natural and much more strained.

Turning next to words that surround the words "accidents or incidents," these words provide an interpretive aid to the words they modify. The word "incident[]" is followed by the words "first occurring." In addition to defining the relevant time at which the incident must take place (i.e., after the closing), that clause inserts the word "first" before "occurring." That suggests, rather strongly, that it was envisioned that some types of incidents could take place over time or have separate sub-occurrences, or that one incident might relate to an earlier incident, with the earliest incident being the one that matters. Otherwise it would be sufficient to simply say "occurring," without adding the word "first." This too suggests that the consequences of an incident should not be regarded as a separate incident, or that even if they are, the incident that first occurs is the one that controls.

- [2] Canons of construction tend to cut in opposite directions, though on balance they favor New GM. The Deutsch Estate appropriately points to the canon of construction against "mere surplusage," which requires different words of a contract or statute to be construed in a fashion that gives them separate meanings, so that no word is superfluous. <sup>14</sup> The Court would not go as far as to say that the words "accident" and "incident" cannot ever cover the same thing—or, putting it another way, that they always must be different. <sup>15</sup> But the Court agrees with the Deutsch Estate that they cannot always mean the same thing. "Incidents" must have been put there for a reason, and should be construed to add something in at least some circumstances.
- [3] But how different the two words "accidents" and "incidents" can properly be understood to be—and in particular, whether "incidents" can be deemed to separately exist <sup>16</sup> when they are a foreseeable consequence, or are the resulting injury, *148 from the accidents or incidents that cause them—is quite a different matter. A second canon of construction, "noscitur a sociis," provides that "words grouped in a list should be given related meaning." <sup>17</sup> Colloquially, "a word is known by the company it keeps ..." <sup>18</sup> For instance, in Dole, in interpreting a phrase of the Paper Work Reduction Act, the Supreme Court invoked noscitur a sociis to hold that words in a list, while meaning different things, should nevertheless be read to place limits on how broadly some of those words might be construed. The Dole court stated:

[t]hat a more limited reading of the phrase "reporting and recordkeeping requirements" was intended derives some further support from the words surrounding it. The traditional canon of construction, noscitur a sociis, dictates that words grouped in a list should be given related meaning. 19

Here application of the canon against surplusage makes clear, as the Deutsch Estate argues, that "incidents" must at least sometimes mean something different than "accidents"—but application of that canon does not tell us when and how. The second canon, noscitur a sociis, does that, and effectively trumps the doctrine of surplusage because it tells us that "accidents" and "incidents" should be given related meaning.

The Deutsch Estate argues that the Court should construe a death resulting from an earlier "accident" or "incident" to be a separate and new "incident" that took place at a later time. But ultimately, the Court concludes that it cannot do so. While it is easy to conclude that "accidents" and "incidents," as used in the MSPA, will not necessarily be the same in all cases, they must still be somewhat similar. "Incidents" cannot be construed so broadly as to cover what are simply the consequences of earlier "accidents" or other "incidents."

Applying noscitur a sociis in conjunction with the canon against "mere surplusage" tells us that the two words "accidents" and "incidents" must be understood as having separate meanings in at least some cases, but that these meanings should be conceptually related. At oral argument, the Court asked counsel for New GM an important question: if an "incident" would not necessarily be an "accident," what would it be? What would it cover? Counsel for New GM came back with a crisp and very logical answer; he said that "incident" would cover a situation where a car caught fire or had blown up, or some problem had arisen by means other than a collision. <sup>20</sup>

*149 Conversely, the interpretation for which the Deutsch Estate argues—that "incidents" refers to consequences of earlier accidents or incidents—is itself violative or potentially violative, of the two interpretive canons discussed above. It is violative of noscitur a sociis, since a death or other particular injury is by its nature distinct from the circumstance—collision, explosion, fire, or other accident or incident—that causes the resulting injury in the first place. The Deutsch Estate interpretation also tends to run counter to the doctrine against mere surplusage upon which the Deutsch Estate otherwise relies, making meaningless the words "first occurring" which follow the words "accidents or incidents," in any cases where death or other particular injury is the consequence of an explosion, fire, or other non-collision incident that causes the resulting injury.

[4] The simple interpretation, and the one this Court ultimately provides, is that "incidents," while covering more than just "accidents," are similar; they relate to fires, explosions, or other definite events that cause injuries and result in the right to sue, as contrasted to describing the consequences of those earlier events, or that relate to the resulting damages.

Finally, this Court's earlier understanding of the purposes of New GM's willingness to assume certain liabilities of Old GM is consistent with the Court's conclusion at this time as well. When the Court approved GM's 363 Sale, this Court noted, in its opinion, that New GM had chosen to broaden its assumption of product liabilities. 21 The MSPA was amended to provide for the assumption of liabilities not just for product liability claims for motor vehicles and parts delivered after the Closing Date (as in the original formulation), but also, for "all product liability claims arising from accidents or other discrete incidents arising from operation of GM vehicles occurring subsequent to the closing of the 363 Transaction, regardless of when the product was purchased." 22 As reflected in the Court's decision at the time, the Court understood that New GM was undertaking to assume the liabilities for "accidents or other discrete incidents" that hadn't yet taken place.

Finally, the Deutsch Estate notes another interpretative canon, that ambiguities in a contract must be read against the drafter. <sup>23</sup> If the matter were closer, the Court might consider doing so. <sup>24</sup> But the language in question is not that ambiguous, *150 and the relevant considerations, fairly decisively, all tip in the same direction. While it cannot be said that the Deutsch Estate's position is a frivolous one, the issues are not close enough to require reading the language against the drafter.

Conclusion

The Deutsch Estate's interpretation of "accident or incident" is not supportable. Thus, the Debtor's motion is granted, and the Deutsch Estate may not pursue this claim against New GM. 25 New GM is to settle an order consistent with this opinion. The time to appeal from this determination will run from the time of the resulting order, and not from the date of filing of this Decision.

- See, e.g., Sprietsma v. Mercury Marine, 537 U.S. 51, 63, 123 S.Ct. 518, 154 L.Ed.2d 466 (2002) (a statute's preemption clause, which applied to "a [state or local] law or regulation" did not preempt common law tort claims, because if "law" were read that broadly, it might also be interpreted to include regulations, which would render the express reference to "regulation" in the preemption clause superfluous). See also Gustafson v. Alloyd Co., 513 U.S. 561, 574, 115 S.Ct. 1061, 131 L.Ed.2d 1 (1995) ("Alloyd") (in statutory construction context, "the Court will avoid a reading which renders some words altogether redundant.").
- As previously noted, "incident" is a word that is inherently broader than "accident." Every accident could fairly be described as an incident. But not every incident could fairly be described as an accident.
- It is important to note that to prevail on this motion, the Deutsch Estate must show that the alleged "incident" that is the resulting death was a wholly separate "incident." Even if the death took place after the Closing Date, if the death was an incident that was part of an earlier incident, it could not be said to be "first occurring" after the Closing Date.

Morash, 490 U.S. 107, 114-15, 109 S.Ct. 1668, 104 L.Ed.2d 98 (1989) (quoting Schreiber v. Burlington Northern Inc., 472 U.S. 1, 8, 105 S.Ct. 2458, 86 L.Ed.2d 1 (1985)); Alloyd, 513 U.S. at 575, 115 S.Ct. 1061 ("This rule we rely upon to avoid ascribing to one word a meaning so broad that it is inconsistent with its accompanying words, thus giving unintended breadth to the Acts of Congress." (emphasis added) (internal quotation marks deleted)).
- 20 Counsel for New GM answered:

Now, what's the difference between an accident or an incident, if it were relevant with respect to product liability claims? And I think there's an easy answer. You could have a car accident. Or you could have a car catching on fire; that's not necessarily an accident; that's an incident. Or a car could blow up with someone in the car. Or something else could happen; some other malfunction could cause a fire or injury to someone, not an accident with another vehicle necessarily; or an accident where you ran off the road. So I think that's easily explained.

Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. v. General Time Corp., 704 F.2d 80, 85 (2d Cir.1983) ("Since the insurer is assumed to have control over drafting the contract provisions, it is fair to hold it responsible for ambiguous terms, and accord the insured the benefit of uncertainties which the insurer could have, but failed to clarify").
- In that event, the Court would then have to consider the specifics of the negotiating environment at the time. The Deutsch Estate was of course not a party to those negotiations at all. But there was little in the record at the time of the 363 Sale, and there is nothing in the record now, as to who, if anybody, had control over the drafting of any MSPA terms.
- Under the circumstances, however, since the Deutsch Estate's issues were fairly debatable and plainly raised in good faith, the Court will provide the Deutsch Estate with 30 days from the resulting order to file a claim against Old GM if it has not already done so, without prejudice to its underlying position and any rights of appeal.
