Chapter 11

Case No. 09-50026 (REG)

(Jointly Administered)

OBJECTION OF ENVIRONMENTAL CLAIMANT ILCO SITE
REMEDATION GROUP TO THE DEBTOR'S PROPOSED DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

The ILCO Remediation Group (“ILCO”), a creditor of the Debtors and party in interest in these proceedings, submits this Objection to the Disclosure Statement with Respect to the Joint Chapter 11 Plan Proposed by Motors Liquidation Company, f/k/a General Motors Corp., and respectfully states as follows:

1. The Debtors filed Voluntary Petitions for Relief under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York on June 1, 2009.

2. On August 31, 2010, the Debtors filed a Disclosure Statement with respect to the Debtors' Joint Chapter 11 Plan (the "Disclosure Statement") and Joint Chapter 11 Plan (the "Plan").

3. On or about September 26, 1996, General Motors Corporation ("GM," and together with the other Debtors, "Debtors") and the other members of ILCO entered into the ILCO Site Remediation Agreement ("Remediation Contract"). Pursuant to the Remediation Contract, GM agreed to implement and fund remediation of the ILCO Site, which includes the Interstate Lead Company, Inc. Superfund Site at 1247 Borden Avenue, Leeds, Alabama and additional related areas.<sup>2</sup>

4. GM and other members of ILCO are also parties ("Settling Defendants") to a Consent Decree entered into with EPA in the United States District Court for the District of Alabama, Southern Division, Civil Action No. CV-07-AR-0001-S on April 22, 1997. Under the Consent Decree, itself a contract among the parties,<sup>3</sup> each Settling Defendant is required to finance and perform the remediation of the ILCO Site with EPA oversight.

5. To organize and allocate the responsibilities for coordination of work and the funding of response costs necessary to comply with the Consent Decree amongst themselves, the Settling Defendants, including GM, entered into the Remediation Contract. The Remediation

<sup>3</sup> See Canterbury Belts, Ltd. v. Lane Walker Rudkin, Ltd., 869 F.2d 34, 38 (2d Cir. 1989) (noting consent decrees are construed as contracts") (citing United States v. ITT Continental Baking Co., 420 U.S. 223, 236-37 (1975)). See also United States v. Asarco Inc., 430 F.3d 972, 980 (9th Cir. 2005) ("Without question courts treat consent decrees as contracts for enforcement purposes."); United States v. Alcoa, Inc., 533 F.3d 278, 283 (5th Cir. 2008) ("Consent decrees are both contracts and legal instruments.").

Contract provides an agreed formula for determining each party's share of the costs to, among other thing, "...organize and conduct a common response to the RD/RA activities at the ILCO Site pursuant to the Consent Decree."

6. As reflected in ILCO's proof of claim, ILCO's consultants determined that future cleanup costs at the ILCO Site are reasonably estimated to be $31,816,555,<sup>4</sup> including EPA's oversight costs estimated to be $2,501,635 (excluding legal fees).

7. ILCO's past costs incurred at the Site are approximately $24 million.<sup>5</sup>

8. On June 1, 2009, Debtors filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code and shortly thereafter suspended further participation in the cleanup of the ILCO Site.

9. ILCO filed a timely proof of claim, and ILCO therein asserts direct contract claims against the Debtor for its agreed share of ILCO's costs to comply with the Consent Decree, arising from GM's obligations to ILCO under the Remediation Contract and the Consent Decree. It also asserts a direct claim under CERCLA for recovery of CERCLA response costs incurred or to be incurred by ILCO.

10. A disclosure statement must contain sufficiently "adequate information" to "enable a creditor to make 'an informed judgment' about the Joint Plan." 11 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(1); Krystal Cadillac-Oldsmobile GMC Truck, Inc. v. GMC, 337 F.3d 314, 321-323 (3d. Cir. 2003) ("[C]reditors and the bankruptcy court rely heavily on the debtor's disclosure statement in determining whether to approve a proposed reorganization Joint Plan, [therefore] the importance of full and honest disclosure cannot be overstated.") Adequate information is defined as information of a kind, and in sufficient detail, as far as is reasonably practicable in light of the nature and history of the debtor and the condition of the debtor's books and records, that would enable a hypothetical reasonable investor typical of holders of claims or interests of the relevant class to make an informed judgment about the plan....

11 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(1). Meaningful and accurate disclosure is at the heart of the Bankruptcy process. Effective disclosure requires the dissemination of “adequate information,” Knupfer v. Wolfberg (In re Wolfberg), 255 B.R. 879, 883 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000).

11. Approval of a Disclosure Statement should be withheld “if it does not contain such information so that all creditors and equity shareholders can make an intelligent and informed decision as to whether to accept or reject the plan.” In re Copy Crafters Quickprint, Inc., 92 B.R. 973, 980 (N.D. N.Y. 1988). For the reasons outlined below, the Debtors’ Disclosure Statement should not be approved at this time due to the Disclosure Statement’s failure to provide ILCO and other claimants with “adequate information” necessary to make an informed judgment about the Debtors’ Plan.

Inadequate Information

12. The proposed Disclosure Statement does not contain information and/or detail necessary to allow ILCO Group, and likely other creditors, to make an informed decision on the proposed Plan. It lacks an adequate liquidation analysis showing the expected return to credits and the accounting and valuation methods used to produce the financial information in the disclosure statement, and information relevant to the risks being taken by creditors and interest holders. See “In re Scioto Valley Mortgage Co.,” 88 B.R. 168, 170-71 (Bankr. S.D. Ohio 1988).

13. Class 3 Claims are treated in the Debtors’ Disclosure Statement and the Debtors’ Plan by providing for the establishment of a GUC Trust. See Debtors’ Disclosure Statement, Section III (G), at p. 59. Payments from the GUC Trust to Class 3 Claimants contemplates the payment of the Claimants’ pro rata share of: (i) the new GM Securities, as defined therein, (the “New GM Stock”); and (ii) the GUC Trust Units, in accordance with the terms of the GUC Trust and the GUC Trust Agreement. Pursuant to the Disclosure Statement, the GUC Trust Agreement is to be executed on or before the Effective Date, in a form acceptable to the Debtors, the Creditors' Committee, the U.S. Treasury and the GUC Trust Administrator.

14. Regarding the payment via New GM Stock, the Disclosure statement provides insufficient information as to the valuation (actual or potential) of the contemplated stock transfers, the basis for and support for any such valuation, provisions in place or proposed to preserve that value, privileges of holders and the right of holders to transfer and other such information necessary to determine whether the proposed arrangement is in any way either capable or adequate to actually provide for resolution of the environmental liabilities.

15. ILCO is unable to determine any specific information regarding the GUC Trust, since that document is not yet finalized or filed. While Class 3 Claimants are to receive new GM Stock and "the GUC Trust Units in accordance with the GUC Trust and the GUC Trust Agreement," it is simply not possible to determine how ILCO's rights and distributions may be affected when the GUC Trust documents are not available for review.

16. Moreover, it is impossible for ILCO to make any type of analysis or informed judgment about the Debtors' Plan when there is absolutely no disclosure of even an estimated aggregate amount of allowed claims in Class 3 or the estimated value of the New GM Stock and recovery for that class. The Disclosure Statement does not even provide a range of estimated percentages or values. Such estimates are crucial for ILCO to make an informed decision about the Debtors' Plan.

17. In addition, without an estimation of claims and percentage of recovery, ILCO cannot determine if the Debtors' Plan meets the best interests of creditors test. See 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(7).

18. The Debtors' Disclosure Statement provides that Class 4 Environmental Claims relating to a select few sites will receive 100% of their allowed claims under the Environmental Response Trust based on a list attached to the Environmental Trust as Attachment "A". However, the Environmental Response Trust Agreement and Environmental Response Trustee Consent Decree and Settlement Agreement have not been finalized and filed, so it is impossible to determine what sites are included in that Trust; what amount of cash is expected to fund the trust either in the aggregate or based on assigned amounts for each individual site (as that amount is left blank in the Disclosure Statement). Without the ability to review the Environmental Trust documents, or be informed of the amounts relative to the trust and the settlement of the claims related to the Priority Sites, it is impossible to determine how the treatment of those claims may impact ILCO.

19. Further, with respect to the Environmental Trust, the Debtors' Disclosure Statement does not explain how the Class 4 Claimants differ from the Class 3 Claimants and the justification for the separate classification of the environmental creditors seemingly having identical claims. Such a discussion is critical to any analysis of the apparent disparate treatment between the Class 4 Environmental Claims that are stated to receive 100% repayment, versus the Class 3 Claimants such as ILCO which is reported to receive some unknown non-cash pro-rata amount as settlement of its claim. Equally important to ILCO is to understand whether EPA is to receive inferior treatment on account of Debtors' ILCO Liabilities as compared to its governmental counterparts in Class 4 on account of substantially similar liabilities. Recovery by the EPA could benefit ILCO if the funds are earmarked for use at the ILCO Site. The Disclosure Statement is silent on these points. Again, because the terms of the environmental settlements and consent decrees referenced in the Disclosure are not disclosed, it is impossible for ILCO to evaluate the different treatments among seemingly similar stake holders.

20. Pursuant to Section III (H) (1) (b) of the Debtors' Disclosure Statement on page 82, the GUC Trust Administrator will be responsible for the prosecution of objections to General Unsecured Claims. It is unclear if the Debtors are attempting to have the ADR procedures imposed upon ILCO for the establishment of the amount of its claims. ILCO previously objected to the ADR Procedures Motion and was specially excluded from the ADR Procedures Order when it was entered. Therefore the prior Order should still preclude ADR Procedures from being utilized by the GUC Trust Administrator when seeking to establish or object to ILCO's claims.

21. Finally, although significant environmental settlements and consent decrees are referred to repeatedly in the Disclosure Statement and Plan, none are attached and the material terms are not disclosed. Such information is critical to ILCO's ability to understand the effect, if any, of such a settlement upon its claim. For example, if a governmental settlement is anticipated with EPA relating to the ILCO Site, critical to ILCO would be the amount of consideration to the governmental unit on account of the claim; whether the distribution will be in cash or stock; whether the distribution is characterized as a cash payment or merely an allowed claim; whether and to what extent the settlement will purport to grant the Debtors contribution protection that could potentially effect ILCO's claim, and if so, whether the purported contribution protection purports to bar contribution claims for past response costs incurred by ILCO from the Petition Date or from the Effective Date of the Plan; and whether by the settlement and Plan releases Debtors or New GM are attempting to improperly avoid the Debtors' nondischargeable injunctive obligations at the ILCO Site

Conclusion

22. The Debtors' Disclosure Statement does not contain adequate information because it does not provide sufficient details to permit ILCO to determine whether it would be in its best interests to vote in favor of, or against, the Plan. Because the requirements of 11 U.S.C. §1125 have not been met, the Court should not approve the Debtors' Disclosure Statement and should require the Debtors to provide additional information that is necessary to address the inadequacies as outlined in this Objection, starting with the information referred to but not actually provided with this version of the Disclosure Statement.

23. Nothing contained herein shall be deemed to be a waiver by ILCO of any rights it may have under applicable law and it reserves the right to amend and supplement this Objection, and to object or otherwise respond to the approval, confirmation and implementation of the Debtors' Plan on any grounds available.

WHEREFORE, ILCO respectfully requests entry of an Order (i) denying approval of the Debtors' Disclosure Statement; and (ii) for such other and further relief as this Court deems just and proper.
